COLONIAL THEATRE. Laddie, Most Exquisite Two-Real Story

of a Mother's Love. Without doubt, the most wonderful expression of mothers' love is over-shadowed in the monster feature drama in two reels entitled Laddie, the big picture sensation at the Colonial theatre today. The mother makes an un-announced visit to the home of her son in the city, where he is a prosperous physician. He is of course glad to see her, but she readily sees that her attire is out of keeping with his environments, and she secretly leaves the house, and almost immediately falis into the hands of the denizens of the lower world. Her experiences form into the hands of the denizens of the lower world. Her experiences form a most vivid story, and the reels are filled with thrilling events, until she is safely piloted into the hands of her repentant son. It is a splendid story, sublimely told. Face to Face, the next event in the big Edison serial entitled The Man Who Disappeared, takes place today, and plenty of excitement is due thereby. Other films for today are The Substitute Heir, Selig, and The Winning Trick, Vitagraph.

Political Gossip

Representative and county Commissioner Albert H. Lamphere of Waterford, commenting upon a recent mention of Mr. Lamphere's name in connection with the office of county sheriff, said to the writer of this comment a day or two ago. "You can put it in that Al. Lamphere will be looking for the nomination for county sheriff if he can get the endorsement of the progressives." Haven't seen Mr. Lamphere to get his opinion of the statement—tried to see him, but he statement—tried to see him, but he must be out looking after his fences or something. Don't believe anything of the kindi A H. can take a joke with the other fellow—but the most distressing joke was that time when the legislature confirmed him and then took it back, all in one afternoon—and then confirmed him, over again the next day—or was that really how all knew that the next day—or was that really how it happened? Al pretty well knew that Sid Brown has the county sheriff job cinched—a life job—he'll win in a walk, so he will!—New London Globe.
